Characteristics of a Deacon

- 1) "Good reputation" (Acts 6:3; Romans 16:1-2) — A deacon's integrity must be beyond reproach in the Church as well as in daily conduct so as to inspire respect and confidence in the Gospel. His/her Christian witness should be reinforced by trustworthy character.
- 2) "Full of the Holy Spirit" (Acts 6:3) — A deacon's life is daily permeated with the Spirit of God who brings holiness to his/her life and power to do through him/her what he/she cannot do on his/her own.
- 3) "Wisdom" (Acts 6:3) — A deacon should be wise enough to control his/her temper and disposition. Furthermore, wisdom must be attained as deacons immerse themselves in the Word of God so that God might pour out His mind in them.
- 4) "Full of faith" (Acts 6:5) — A deacon needs to have an immovable faith in God that will dare to lead the Church forward in the work of the Kingdom, in spite of obstacles that may dishearten many others.
- 5) "Reverent" (I Tim. 3:8) — A deacon must be firm in his/her faith, stable in his/her convictions, sound in his/her beliefs, and correct in his/her Church loyalty. This word "reverent" signifies weight. In this sense, it speaks of one who carries weight, or one who counts for right influences.
- 6) "Not double-tongued" (I Tim. 3:8) — A deacon's word should be truthful and sincere. A deacon is a person of his/her word and consistent in his/her speech. He/she never gives rise to misunderstandings and differences.

CENTRAL

- 7) “Not given to much wine” (I Tim. 3:8) — A deacon, in his/her role as a spiritual mentor, should never find himself/herself in a position unable to perform his/her duties due to intoxication.
- 8) “Not greedy for money” (I Tim. 3:8) — A deacon must not be covetous in the manner in which he/she earns, spends, and saves his/her money, in his/her management of Church funds, or in bringing his/her tithes and offerings to the Church.
- 9) “Holding the mystery of the faith with a pure conscience” (I Tim. 3:9) — A deacon should be sound and stable in the teachings of the Bible and genuinely committed to believing and living out the revealed truths of the Christian faith.
- 10) “First be tested . . . being found blameless” (I Tim. 3:10) — A deacon should not be a new convert, but tested and proven to be a growing and maturing Christian who is above reproach and fully devoted to God.
- 11) “Faithful to their spouse” (I Tim. 3:12) — A deacon, if married is to be totally devoted to their spouse, maintaining singular devotion, affection, and sexual purity in both thought and deed. Our belief is that the deacon is to be a faithful and loving their spouse. The Bible also takes into account the life of a deacon’s spouse in determining their qualifications to serve (Matthew 5:32; I Corinthians 7:10-11).
- NOTE: The Bible also teaches that under certain circumstances it is better for a person not to marry. Therefore, an unmarried person may serve as a deacon. (Matthew 19:11-12).*
- 12) “Ruling their children and their own houses well” (I Tim. 3:12) — A deacon, if he/she has children, should manage his/her home and exercise control over his/her children to the best of his/her ability. He/she should be respected as the spiritual head of his/her household.

CENTRAL

- f. Intentionally reach out to unbelievers
4. Other duties as assigned by Senior Pastor and/or his designee

What does the Senior Pastor expect from deacons/deaconesses?

1. Pray fervently for the ministry
2. Attend Sunday morning worship, bible study and other special worship experiences weekly
3. Provide excellent congregational care
4. Serve on a diaconate ministry team consistently
5. Attend diaconate, care and leadership meetings, as scheduled
6. Be a tither and giver (contributes 10% of gross income to the ministry)
7. Be flexible and responsive to the needs of the church (planned and spontaneous)
8. Notify the ministry leadership in the event of an absence from any church major event at which your presence is required.
9. Prepare and serve Communion/Prepare and facilitate Baptism
10. Agree to act and speak in Christian love; refrain from destructive criticism; be willing to settle all differences in a quiet and Christian manner.
Every deacon (deaconess) carries two imaginary buckets: one of water and one of gasoline. You determine in many situations whether you will help put out the fires of disharmony or if you will fuel the problem.
11. Keep in confidentiality those things that should not be discussed with others, especially sensitive proceedings and congregational care for members. Communicate in such a way that your Servant Leaders and Senior Pastor are well informed and enthusiastically supportive of your expression of care.
12. Zealously guard the spirit of unity within the Church. Strive for unity within the body. (E.g. once a decision has been made at a meeting, regardless of how much internal discussion and debate transpires among the body, emerge in one accord.) Keep murmuring down and “kill” every spirit and sentiment, which seeks to exalt itself above the Word of God and vision for the church.
13. As a spiritual leader and “ministering servant” place the wishes of the congregation as priority over personal wishes, agendas and schedules; be devoted to the spiritual welfare of the Church
14. Serve as a leader in key areas of ministry, as assigned, based upon gifts

To whom are deacons accountable?

1. God
2. Senior Pastor and/or his designee
3. Diaconate Leadership
4. Congregation
